of Supervisors of the County of New York.—On the 26th of February a motion was made by the relator for mandamus to compet the Board of Supervisors to audit the relator's claim for the refunding of taxes paid in 1863 and 1864 upon capital invested in legal tender notes. The following opinion was yesterday delivered by Mr. Justice Leonard denying the application:—

In the act of 1862 the legal lender notes are called money. The principal object of the act was to give them currency as money. They draw no interest. They were put into circulation, and have been received in payment of debts, public and private, as money. The validity of the act has been sustained by the court of last resort. The Judges of that court, in the different ophinons or arguments in relation to the constitutionality of the law, speak of them as issued upon the credit of the government, but the conclusion does not follow that they are not to be constiered as money. The notes are not commercially known as public securities, nor are they dealt in as such. It is only indirectly that they operate in favor of the government as a means of borrowing. Unlike "government securities" they are pay the on de mand. They are not within the excemption from taxation given by statute in respect to the various leans offered by Congress, and were received by government as money when their bonds were offered for sale or to effect loans. I think Congress did not intend that they should be exempt from local taxation. For these reasons I am inclined to hold them to be money, and as such to be subject to taxation. The application is denied, with costs. TO LEASE—FOR TWO OR THREE YEARS, FUR nished or unfurnished, one of the best Houses in New ark, fronting the Park and near the depots, with fine stable. SUPERIOR COURT-TRIAL TERM. The Harlem Railroad Homicide-Verdict of $4.000 for the Decedent's Widow.

Before Judge Garvin.

Gonzales, Administratric, w. The Harlem Railroad Company—In this case, already reported, in which the administrator and widow of Mr. Gonzales, who was killed on the railroad at West Mount Vernon, sues for the damaces allowed by statute when the recklessness of a company or individual has cassed death, the jury ren-dered a verdict for the plaintiff for $4,000.

Action to Recover an Advertising Account.

Before Judge Alker and a Jury.

Piletus Stephens vs. Henry H. Sterling and Joseph H. Swift.—The plaintiff, who resides at 37 and 39 Nassau street, is an agent for the insertion of advertisements in street, is an agent for the insertion of advertisements in Spanish newspapers. He alleges that he entered into an agreement with the defendants for the insertion of their advertisement in the E. Tiempr, of Havana, t-ice a week for fifty-two weeks, at the price of six cents a line for each insertion. The defence, as appeared by the answer of Swift, who stated that the copartnership between himself and Sterling had ceased, admitted the existence of the contract for the insertion of the alvertisement during the time specified and at the price mentioned, but declared that the amount claimed was paid for by the delivery to the plaintiff of a quantity of an article called "Ambrosia," and that the plaintiff had consented to a request from the defendants to have the insertion of the advertisement discontinued. The jury found a verdict for the plaintiff for $419.91.

COURT OF COMMON PLEAS-CHAMBERS.

culors, dr. -The plaintiff is in possession of premises by virtue of an alleged verbal agreement to execute a lease for three years from May 1, 1866. The defendants set up the statute of frauds as a defence. Plaintiff contended that the payment of additional rent and remaining in possession by virtue of agreement takes case out of statute, and obtained an injunction to restrain defendants from letting premises to others, and demands specific performance of contract. A motion to dissolve injunction coming on for argument, the Judge dealed the motion on condition that plaintiff file a bond and pay rental value in case the action is decided against him.

her person, besides having her garments soiled and torn.

Among the witnesses for the prosecution was one named William Houston, who testified that on the evening in question he saw plaintiff attempting to get on the car and fall backwards in so doing, and discovering the Greenpoint car about twenty-five or thirty yards away, but approaching the place where Mrs Andariese fell; he shouted to the click where Mrs Andariese fell; he shouted to the click where Mrs Andariese fell; he shouted to the driver, but the latter heeded not his words, and the car continued at a rapid rate towards Tillary sirred; witness immediately assisted plaintiff to rise, and that instant the Greenpoint car came up and the two were trampled under the horses! teet.

In view of the discrepancy between the testimony of Houston and that of Mrs Andariese and the assumed negligence of the latter, Mr. Jenks, counsel for the company, moved that the complaint be dismissed. The motion was denied, however, and he was put on his defence, when it appeared that plaintiff showed negligence in attempting to reach the car, and other facts were elicited, which so influenced the jury that they returned a verdict in favor of the rallroad company.

Ann Smyh vs. John O'Brine.—The plaintiff in this case sucd to recover the sum of $2,000 for alleged defamation of her character by defendant. On the part of the prosecution it appeared that on or about the 27th day of September last O'Brine stated, within the hearing of various parties, that piaintiff kopt a fancy house which was resorted to by men and women. Defendant answered by a denial of these allegations, and introduced testimony endeavoring to show that by the term "fancy house" he intended that Mrs. Smyth's house was a fancy one as regarded its appearance, adornments, &c., but not that it was resorted to for such purposes as plaintiff had constreed from his words. The jury rendered a verdet for plaintiff in the sum of $50. Counsel for defence applied for a stay of proceedings, which will probabily be grante

LEITING UP ON THE HACEMEN.

Alderman Harby offered an amondment to the ordinance in relation to hackmen and porters soliciting employment, so that it would not be necessary for them to wear their badges except when soliciting the patronage of the public. He said that hackmen generally had a strong aversion to wearing badges except when it was really necessary. They should be compelled to wear them at all times when soliciting employment; but in the interim he thought it was quite unnecessary. The amendment to the ordinance was adopted.

A MINOR SWINDLE.

A RESON SWINDLE.

A revolution directing the clerks of the Common Council to engroes and frame the complimentary resolutions pussed by the last Common Council to President Brice, of the Aldermen, and President Green, of the other Board, was debated at length. Mr. ROBBETS offered an amendment to the resolution restricting the clerks to expending one hundred dollars for the work, which was lost, Mr. HENER MYCHAU Coolly observing that the resolutions should be engrossed right and that the clerks should not be restricted. It is proposed to appropriate five hundred dollars for this purpose. The resolution was laid over.

The Board on motion took a recess for half an hour for the purpose of receiving the tax levy, which was under consideration in the other Board. The document was received and laid over, after which the Board adjourned.

Mr. Oppwrs, from the Committee appointed to make suitable arrangements for the reception of Professor Bache's remains, reported that the wishes of the Chamber had been compiled with.

The same gentleman, from the Committee on New Piers, reported that two plans for the erection of substantial piers of stone and iron had been examined, and the committee was of opinion that they were of great practical-value and go far to solve the whole difficulties of the improvements of our river fronts. The committee, therefore, submitted that the plans should be endorsed by the Chamber of Commerce, and submitted to the consideration of the commission that may be appointed by the Legislature on the wharves and piers of the city, with the request that if approved by them they should recommend the passage of an act for the ergetion of three adjacent piers, to be built in accordance with each of these plans, at some point on the river from where improvement is most needed. The report was accepted.

Mr. Barrow offered the following:—

Resolved, That the Executive Committee of this Chamber be instructed to prepare a memorial to our Legislature, from the Chamber, praying for a repeal of the usury laws of this State.

POLICE INTELLIGENCE.

A Young Man Robs His Employers or $4,000. 15th ult, Julian A. H. Hasbrouck, Jr., alias Harry D. Archer, a bright lad of eighteen years, then in the emand $6 in silver coin for the purpose of delivering the same to Messrs. Beebe & Brother. The certificates and same to Messra. Beebe & Brother. The certificates and silver were placed in a pocketbook, but instead of delivering the treasure according to order, the youthful delinquent abaconded with the same and till yesterday all search for him proved unavailing. The pocketbook containing the money was subsequently discovered in the vault of the billiard saloon corner of Pulton and Nassau streets. Two or three days since Mr. Cannon received information that the fugitive youth had fied to Eric, Pennsylvania, and on Wednesday betective Bennett proceeded thither in search of him, but yesterday Mr. William C. Pate, a member of the firm robbed, learned that Julian was at the Howard Hotel, Broadway. This proved to be true, and the delinquent, on being arrested, was taken before Justice Dowling at the Tombs. The prisoner, who lives at No. 43 West Fourteent street, confessed to taking the money and the magistrate committed him for trist without ball. Since the theft Julion has been living at a rapid rate, and while being conducted to a cell in the Tombs he confessed to having invested $1,000 of the money in a gift enterprise establishment in Pennsylvania, which he zaid was paying well. It is understood that about $2,500 of the stolen money has been recovered, the remainder having been squandered in the manner stated.

Thus far hearly a dozen merchants have testified to having been swindled by Burnett and his confederates.

ALLEGED LARCENY OF MONEY. - Patrick Duffy and James Lawler were neighbors, residing at Jamaica, L. I. On the 5th instant Mr. Lawler lost some $345 in money, and the 5th instant Mr. Lawier lost some $345 in money, and for some reason not explained suspected that his neighbor. Mr. Duffy, knew something about its disappearance; but he found that his neighbor had left Jamaica for this city, and hither he followed him. With the assistance of an officer of the Eighth Precinct Duffy was found, and $297, which he claimed he had found outside the hail door, were found in his possession. Mr. Lawier identified the money as a portion of his property, and entred a complaint against Duffy, before Justice Dodge, yesterday afternoon, charging Duffy with stealing the money. On this complaint and in default of $3,000 bail Duffy was committed to answer.

THE SWILL MILK CASE.

Examination at the City Hall Police Court.

Brooklyn-The Medical Testimony for the Prosecution-Evidence for the Defence.
The case of Morris Phelan, the milkman indicted at the instance of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, for "crueily and inhumanly torturing a fined in a certain stable occupied by him without proper ventilation, and in such a manner as to cause disease and death among said cattle," was continued yesterday at the City Hall Police Court, Brooklyn, before Justice Corn. II.

The following evidence was taken:—
Dr. Sanuel R. Perev, sworn—Was a physician; resided at No. 45 West Thirty-eighth street, New York; had given more than ordinary attention to the subject of the proper mode of treating cows; when a number of coas were confined in a badly ventilated, dark stable, in marrow stables, chained so as to be able only to move six inches in any direction, and continued in that position for several months, the effects upon the animals would be extremely bad; the first effect would be an onesy, restless, feverish state of the animal existed, more or less, devine the whole time of the confinement, but in time-time cow adapted itself to its unhealthy condition, and cid not suffer so much from this cause; after a week or so of confinement the feet of the animal became tender and sore; witness had seen hundreds of cases in which the animal was constantly changing its position on account of the sorness of its wight rested most upon the heals; that was invariably the case; witness had seen animals, after being confined, the city, the effect was just the same than as who they were first confined; there was a constant infling of the feet and change of position; the animals formed sores on account of lying down, in order to avoid standing so long; the effect of the confined air in the stable would be very detrimental to the animals formed sore on account of lying down, in order to avoid standing so long; the effect of the confined air in the stable would be very detrimental to the animals formed the blood unhealthy; so injurious was the effect of the heals; that was invariably the case; that witness had seen rows of animals breathing over one hundred times a minute, while naturally they should brathe but twenty times; the effect upon the hear of this rapid breathing was to increase the circulation to such an extent that it was impossible to counter the pushtons; thus confined ma 59,900 159,000 given to these animals were characteristic maine, stumptails;" It he stables were well lighted and venitlated

the effect of the confinement would be greatly monified, but the animals would necessarily become dis-as-off; the pest which had decimited the cattle of Europe had which had decimited the cow, when thus confined, was changed in its chemical pature; the animal was, in the first place, kept in this manner solely for the purpose of increasing the quantity of the milk; themilk, when thus changed, ceased to have the power of alone sustaining life; any child fed alone upon such milk would die, and witness could give numerous weil authenticated cases in proof.

Cross-examined—Bad food was fully as injorious as any other cause upon cowe; in the writings of witness he had never said that distillers' swill was more injurious; all the discasses he had alluded to could arise amply from imperfect ventilation, want of light and confinement; witness had visited nearly every stable in Brooklyn, in various disguises and at all times; the use of distillers' swill had not coased; he had seen it going through the streets; witness had visited Phelan's stable la-t-summer; did not know the present condition of his stables; more milk was produced by these cows thus confined, because they were largely fed with finide, and the fluids passed of through the mammary gland; very little dry food was given to these animals.

Re-direct—Last summer was special inspector of milk
to the Board of Healit; the coadition of Phelan's stable when he visited it last summer was very bad; it was lifty ventilated and poorly lit; the cows had been many of them vaccinated and had lost their tails; witness had not seen any of the cows in a healthy condition; the cows were fed from troughs.

Dr. Augustus K. Gardner briefly corroborated the statements of the last witness in reference to the effects of confine

the best of his judgment it was swill.

This closed the case for the presecutios. Mr. De Witt at once proceeded to call the following witnesses for the defence:

John Coller, sworn—Was acquainted with Mr. Phelan's stable; on one side of the stable there were seven windows, and on the other side four doors; the stable was between sixty and seventy feet wide, by about a hundred and twelve; there was a ventiliator right over the centre of Mr. Phelan's stable; in cold weather the doors and windows were not opened; Phelan had about swenty five cows; his statis were about three feet wide; the cattle were fastened to an iron ring attached to an upright post; the own could more about twenty-two inches up and down; the cow so fastened could lie down, and liek her sides to a certain extent; the stable was properly drained; a cow stable must be to a certain extent dirty, but I helan's stable was deleaned out regularly; winces had been in the stable the day before, and the cows were all healthy; Phelan fed his cows on distillers' swill; no nee of the cows had any tenderness of feet; Phelan's owns family used his milk; witness had used Phelan's owns his; witness had used Phelan's milk for seventeen years.

Joseph White, sworn—Was a drover; was familiar withcows, and the best mode of keeping them; Phelan kepin's cows in the manner usual in this city; his stable was pretty light; the air was a little warm, but they probably kept it so on purpose; witness had used Phelan's milk for fittern years; the milk was pure and bealthy; in Phelan's stable had seen no cows with sores on their sides, with their tails off, or in an unhealthy condition; Phelan's table had seen no cows with sores on their sides, with their tails off, or in an unhealthy condition; Phelan's table had seen no cows with sores on their sides, with their tails off, or in an unhealthy condition; Phelan's stable had seen no cows with sores on their sides, with their tails off, or in an unhealthy condition; Phelan's cows were in a better condatent than cows usually a
